Grow Up Farms

Grow Up Farms was an idea born out of the pandemic as well as severe weather events, that wreaked havoc on supply chains and resulted in empty grocery store shelves. Focused on crop production in a controlled environment using vertical farm technology, Grow Up Farms will offer fresh, pesticide-free, hyperlocal produce to customers 12 months of the year.

Clayton, a former chef of 20 years, understands the need for fresh, local produce all year round and is committed to being part of the solution right here in the Shuswap.
